Do you know?

The profile of the certified multisite companies on our website now includes a list of their certified sites. We would like to remind you that typical cases of a multisite company are:

- a producer with a network of production sites, storage sites, delivery trucks, and/or sales offices that are a part of a single legal entity or are separate legal entities but with the managerial control by the legal entity of the producer;
  - a trader with a network of other traders with or without delivery trucks, storage sites, or/and sales organisations that are a part of a single legal entity or are separate legal entities but with the managerial control by the legal entity of the certified trader;
  - a company outsourcing activities to a service provider without a valid ENplus® certification.
