Fraud Management

Over 400 tonnes of wood pellets were blocked in Italy for fraud, misleading labelling and illegal use of the ENplus® trademark. Learn more here.

Interview

Cristina Lucesole from BEA Institut für Bioenergie gives an important piece of advice to the applying companies. Check out the full interview here.

More Than A Decade With Us

The Croatia-based pellet producer Bjelin Spačva d.o.o. is another company that acts with great responsibility towards the market and its customers. Learn more about them in this article, part of our “More Than A Decade With Us” initiative.

Imitation Companies

We have published on our website a new database that includes websites and contact details of entities that pretend to be real and legitimate businesses (including pretending to be ENplus® certified companies) when they are not. We advise you to not trust them in regard to their ENplus® certification claims.

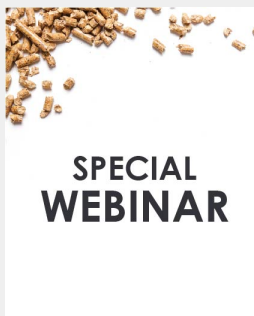

Inspectors' Training

A training for inspectors who want to perform ENplus® inspections of pellet production plants and pellet trader facilities took place in Austria last week.

Do you know?

With a proposed new law on green claims, the European Union is taking action to address greenwashing and protect consumers, and the environment. Learn more about the Directive on Green Claims here. It could affect pellet companies who put green claims on the pellet bags.

Webinar for Chilean companies

Date: 24/06/2025

ENplus® in cooperation with the Chilean Biomass Association (AChBIOM) is organising a webinar dedicated to the Chilean companies interested to learn more about the certification and the application process.
